

an impact determiner configured to determine an event impact from the at least one event criteria and a general function impact; and a coordination determiner configured to determine whether the event impact interferes with at least one implemented function instance and generate a coordination output based on the determination whether the event impact interferes.

47-60. (canceled)

61. A non-transitory computer readable medium configured to:

determine at least one event criteria from a received event function request; determine an event impact from the at least one event criteria and a general function impact; determine whether the event impact interferes with at least one implemented function instance; and generate a coordination output based on the determination whether the event impact interferes.

62-63. (canceled)

* * * * *